Learn Spanish
while experiencing the culture!

Foreword

Santo Domingo, Oaxaca

Mexico, the largest Spanish-speaking country in the world, and home to one of the most vibrant and dynamic societies in Latin America, offers an endless array of opportunities to learn Spanish, and be immersed in the richness of its culture. Whether you're inspired by its ancient archaeological and colonial sites, world-class cuisine, indigenous diversity, pristine beaches, magical towns or its unique artistic scene, there has never been a better time to visit Mexico.

This handbook features a list of institutions that offer a combination of either Spanish, or Spanish and culture courses, in Mexico. It is divided into four main geographical regions. While this is far from being an exhaustive list, we have attempted to offer a wide cross section of institutions catering to every budget and interest.

It also includes a list of Frequently Asked Questions (FAQs), covering everything from visa requirements, to costs of living, and other useful tips for visiting Mexico. While primarily intended for Australian audiences, the information contained in this handbook will be useful to any English-speaking student, or professional looking to learn Spanish in Mexico.

I would like to acknowledge the efforts of Alejandro Del Castillo, MA student at the University of Melbourne and CEO of Revarena Ediciones, who conducted the research and designed the guide, as well as that of Santiago Ballina, cultural attaché of the Embassy of Mexico in Australia who supervised the project. We hope this handbook is just the beginning of your adventure in Mexico, and we look forward to welcoming you to our beautiful country.

Sincerely,

Eduardo Peña Haller
Ambassador of Mexico to Australia

Why study Spanish...

in Mexico?

Spoken by more than 500 million people, Spanish is one of the top 5 languages in the world, so learning it will open many doors for you, whether you're looking to expand your employment potential or be able to communicate while traveling.

Mexico has the largest Spanish speaking population of any country in the world, so there will be plenty of opportunities for you to practice! Furthermore, studying in Mexico will give you access to one of the most vibrant and dynamic cultures in Latin America, whether you're attracted to centuries-old archaeological sites or trendy bars by the beach.

Due to its large size and diverse geographical and cultural landscape, Mexico offers a Spanish program for every interest and budget, and the following catalogue of institutions and programs reflects that diversity. We are sure you will find many attractive options among the 4 regions in which we have divided this booklet.

In selecting the institutions featured in this handbook, we have attempted to incorporate only those that meet a number of criteria, including having an English website offering enough details on programs and courses, updated contact information, ease of access and being located in towns/cities with tourist/cultural relevance, etc.

Due to its established reputation, universities (whether public or private) have been given prominence in the handbook, followed by private schools or institutions that teach Spanish throughout the country.

The Embassy of Mexico does not endorse any particular institution included in the handbook. While every effort has been made to provide accurate information, we highly recommend any prospective student to get in touch with the institution of their choosing to obtain further details.

We look forward to seeing you in Mexico soon!

Is Mexico safe?

According to the World Tourism Organization, in 2018 Mexico was the 7th most visited country in the world, with over 41 million arrivals (this includes over 80 thousand Australians). A large share of these are return visitors, which experience no problems whatsoever during their stay in Mexico (UNWTO, 2019).

Basic and common-sense precautions, particularly when visiting large cities, will ensure a worry-free stay in Mexico.

What are the living costs?

According to information provided by international consulting company Mercer, Mexico's cities rank as some of the most affordable in Latin America. Out of 208 international destinations ranked by Mercer's 2019 Cost of Living Survey, Mexico City ranks 157 and Monterrey 193, compared to other similar cities in the region (Santiago de Chile ranks 69, Montevideo ranks 75, Sao Paulo ranks 86, Rio de Janeiro ranks 121 and Buenos Aires ranks 133). Hong Kong, Tokyo and Singapore occupy the top 3 rankings, according to this list.

Expatisan, a crowd-sourced website devoted to offering data on cost of living provided by real users, ranks Mexico 79th out of 104 countries, below Panama (43), Costa Rica (45), Uruguay (46), Chile (52), El Salvador (56), Brazil (58), Ecuador (64) and Guatemala (70).

According to specialised website Numbeo, on average, the cost of living in Mexico is 50% lower than Australia. As a measure of reference, basic costs (minus rent) for a single person in the largest Mexican cities (Mexico City, Monterrey or Guadalajara) average 650-700 AUD (430-470 USD) per month.

Do I need a Visa?

The passport holders of a large number of countries (including Australia, Canada, USA and all EU countries) are exempt to apply for a visa to enter and study in Mexico if their stay is less than 180 days (6 months). If this is the case, you can enter Mexico as a short-term visitor and are allowed to enrol in any academic program that does not exceed the duration of your entry permit (maximum of 180 days). Be advised that, under this modality, it is not permitted to extend your 180 day stay once you've entered the country, and you would have to leave the country before the permit expires. Click here for more information on which countries require a visa to enter Mexico.

If the intended study program or stay in Mexico is longer than 180 days, prospective students should apply for either a temporary resident or temporary resident student visa at their nearest Mexican embassy/consulate. Click here for more information on how to apply for a Mexican visa.

The cost of either a temporary resident or temporary resident student visa is 36 USD (according to the current exchange rate), payable at the time of the consular appointment.

If applying for a visa, we recommend that you start your visa application at least one month ahead of your planned travel date.

Temporary resident/resident student visas have a validity of six months from the day they are issued, meaning you have six months from their issuance to enter Mexico.

Upon arrival in Mexico, the Temporary Resident Visas must be exchanged within the first 30 days at the National Migration Institute (INM) for a Temporary Resident Card. This card has a separate cost (as of October 2019, the cost of a one-year temporary resident card is approximately 212 USD or 314 AUD), and it will allow you to leave and enter Mexico as many times as desired during the entirety of your stay, as well as to enroll in any long term study program and open a bank account.

Can I work while studying?

Tips to Live in Mexico!

Prospective students entering Mexico under the visa-free modality (short-term visitors for less than 180 days) are not allowed to be engaged in paid work in the country.

Holders of either a temporary resident visa or a temporary resident student visa can apply before the Mexican National Institute of Migration (INM, for its Spanish acronym), for a working permit once they have entered the country. Be advised neither of these visas allow the bearer to automatically apply for work, as this requires prior authorisation of the immigration authorities.

There are plenty of amazing sights in Mexico, so don't hesitate to ask locals for recommendations. While most people in major cities speak some English, this might not be the case in smaller towns.

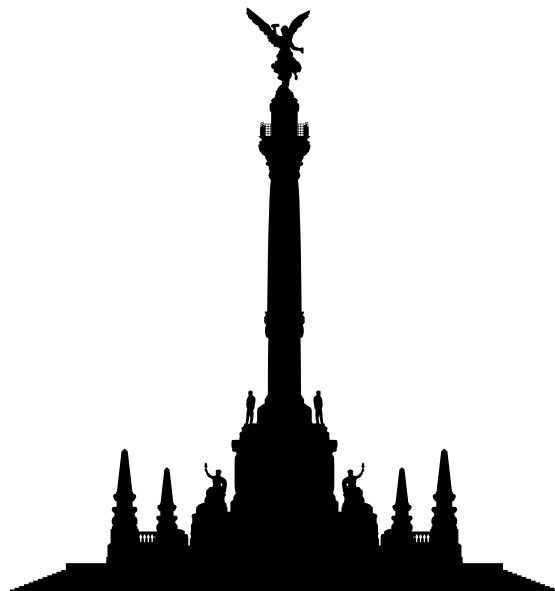

Mexico is a country with an amazing diversity in natural landscapes and ecotourism. Make sure to take advantage of the different seasons of the year to experience as much as possible!

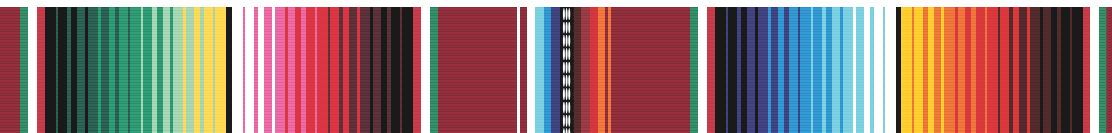

Make sure to taste Mexico's many regional and local cuisines. Mexico's cuisine is one of the top rated in the world, and has been declared world heritage by UNESCO. Tipping (10-15% of total bill) is usually expected!

If you're in a major city, take advantage of the public transportation system. At night, rideshare applications (e.g. Uber) are the safest option.

While US dollars are accepted in popular tourist destinations, we recommend carrying the national currency (the Mexican peso). Cash is preferred for small transactions, especially outside big cities.

Remember to buy health insurance! It is relatively inexpensive and it will give you peace of mind.
